

Disclaimer

This website, and other electronic marketing communications, including, but not limited to, email newsletters, from Van Ness Feldman (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Materials"), have been prepared by Van Ness Feldman for informational purposes only. Use of these materials constitutes understanding of and agreement with the following terms and conditions:

- The contents of the materials may be considered attorney advertising in certain jurisdictions.
- The information presented on the materials is not, and is not intended to be, legal advice or a legal opinion applicable to any particular facts or circumstances.
- Communications sent to Van Ness Feldman using features of these materials (including, but not limited to: the "Sign Up/Subscribe" website page, the email links to individual professionals on the website, and the "Manage Preferences" and "Forward to a Colleague" functions of email newsletters) are not confidential and neither create nor constitute evidence of an attorney-client relationship.
- Use of these materials neither creates nor constitutes evidence of an attorney-client relationship. Users of this website should not act upon the information contained in the website without first seeking independent professional counsel.
- Van Ness Feldman reserves the right to grant or withhold access to any or all of the materials to anyone at any time for any reason.

Your continued use of these materials indicates your informed consent to these terms.